Well hey come! I can really say that you made my senior year exciting. I am so glad that we have a friendship I know will last. Whatever we do or wherever we go nothing will change that. Thank you for being there when I needed a friend because if you weren't I would have lost my sanity (Not that I have much now because of the wolf but you are just as crazy because of the man) I hope you will look at this year from now and laugh (or will you ...?) Even when you leave I will still think of the fun times we shared and hope to have many more.

I love you Take care and may God (or who ever you want) Bless you.

Dreams

To Joyce,
I know we haven't been the close friends we should have lately, but I am glad we are NOW. Thank you for what you said in my annual.
I wish you good luck in the future. If you ever have a problem or need someone to talk to, I will be there for you.

Our dreams and aspirations give our lives meaning. While different people have different ideas of fulfillment and success, we all need something for which to strive. The spirit of Woodland is comprised of a diverse collection of ideas, opinions, and perspectives. Whether we lean toward academics, athletics, social growth, or personal awareness as a measure of our individual success, one thing is constantly true: We are all here to grasp all the experience we can toward realizing our goals. In doing so, we amplify a separate goal—the continuance in the Woodland spirit for those to come. Through our successes in various areas of interest, we contribute to, and provide the assurance of the revitalization of the Woodland spirit of achievement for our successors.

Warrior Spirit

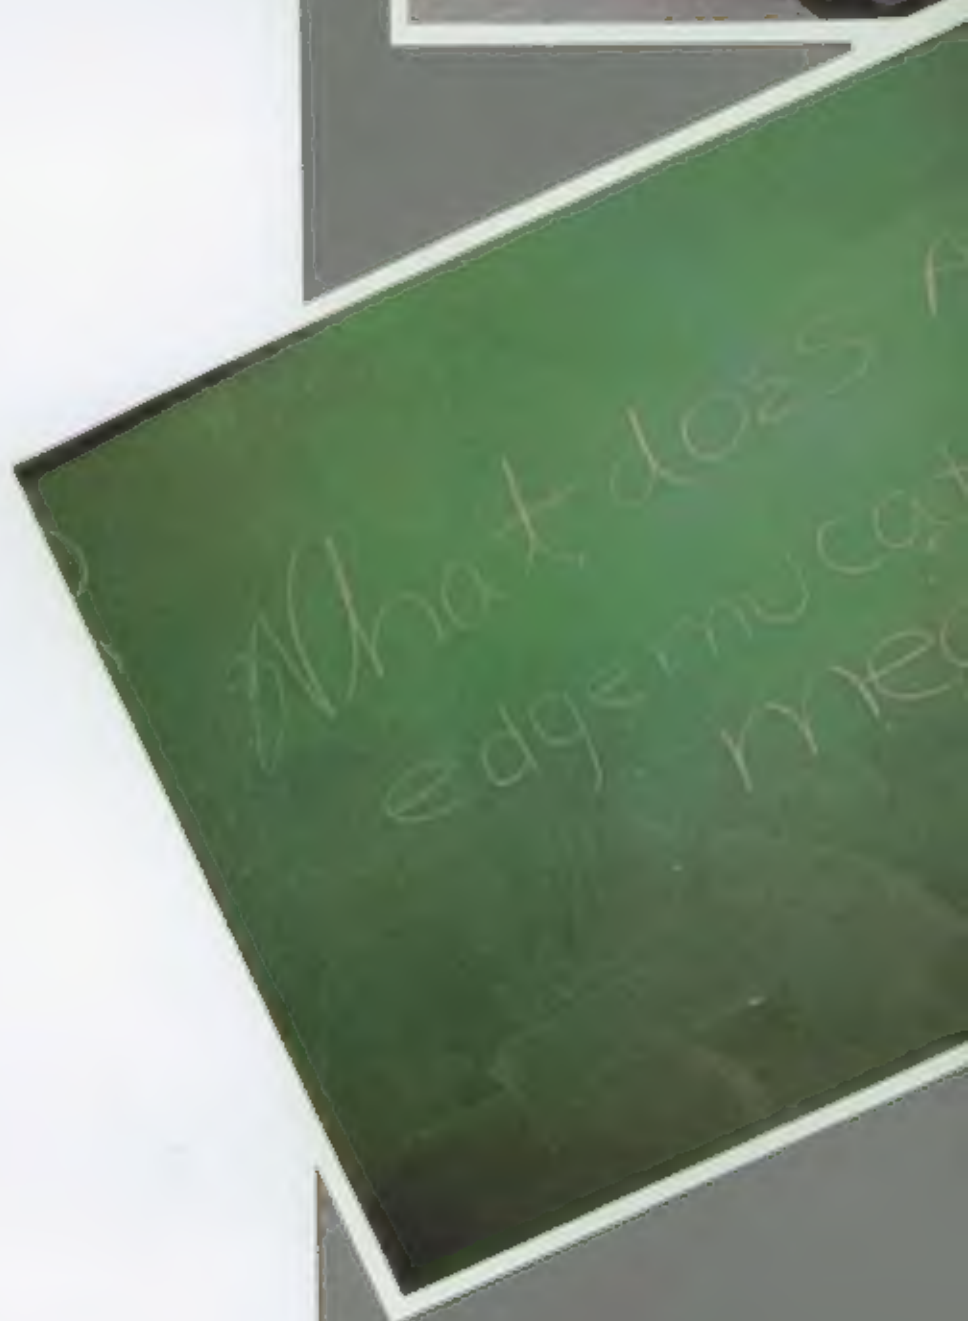

School spirit gives a student body unity. With this unity, obtained by athletic support almost any worth—while endeavor can be accomplished. Warrior spirit can be seen in the pep rallies and large turnouts at sports events.

"Dig your starting hole deep and firm"

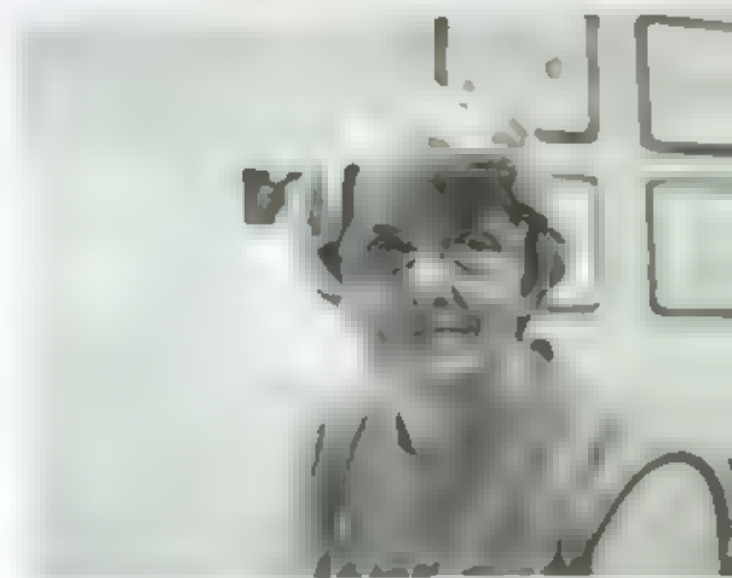

(Get a good foundation by applying yourself) "Lunge out with all the power within you"

(Put forth your best efforts at all time)

"Run the race with patience"

MAJORETTES

The halftime shows would have been just that without the majorettes. "Half a show." This year's Woodland High majorettes were outstanding! They put in long hard hours of practice to improve their technique and add style to their performances; and that they did. Their performances were real crowd dazzers!

The Drill Team and Majorette squads for the 1985-86 year participated in many activities. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Freida Smith, the groups captured 1st place in summer camp at West Georgia College in Carrollton, but they won't stop now. In their strive to be the Best in the nation they will be attending another camp in the near future.

Drill team captain Yvette Terry led the group in a successful season. They performed at football games and basketball games. Public appearances were made too. They along with the majorettes and band showed Atlanta their latest steps at the Morris Brown parade. Besides working hard the group spent time of play. Get together to make tassels for boots were quite hilarious. Yvette wishes the Drill Team the best next year and she leaves with them the thought, "Don't take the fun out of being on the Drill Team."

Mr. Stevens led the Orchestra to a very successful year. The group appeared in the Christmas concert and other such activities. Added to their repertoire are the many other invitations that our outstanding orchestra has received and the ratings that they earned.

"Yes, the chorale does warm up!" Even though the group consisted of many talented youngsters, warmups were still necessary. Professional though they were, practice did make the performances perfect. The chorale can accredit their professionalism to their director, Mrs. Dorothy Carter. Under her leadership the group made special appearances at the Choral Festival and the Baccalaureate Services. They also graced the community with their annual Christmas concert and cabaret shows. This year's chorale worked hard to present us with shows better than Broadway!

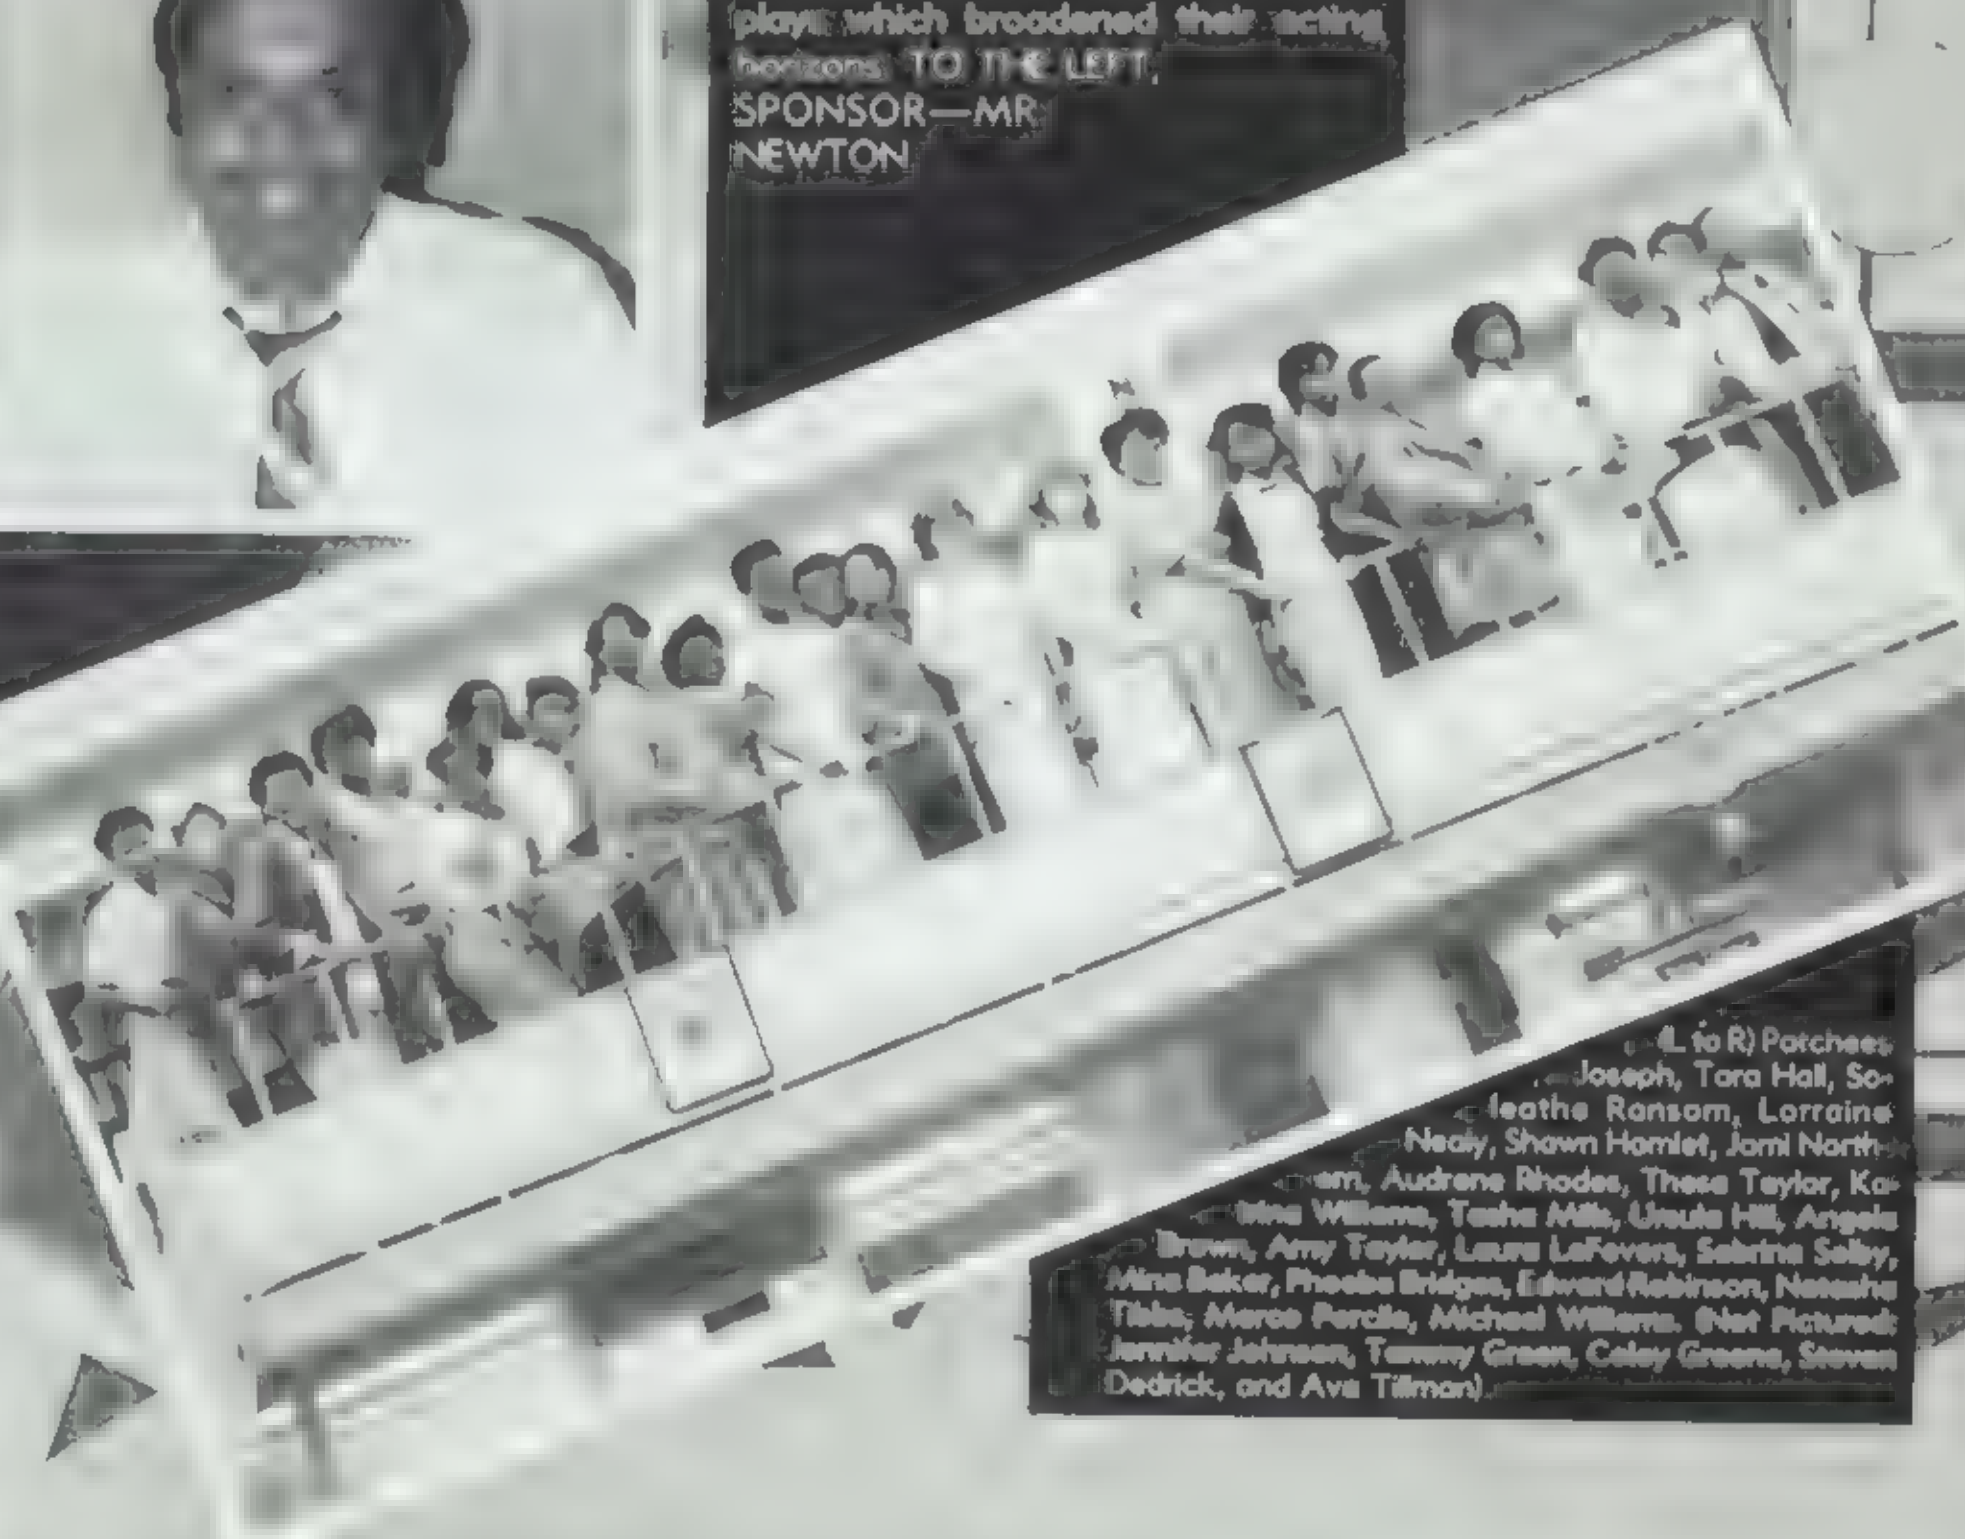

Chorale concerts frequently included solo pieces, such as this one featuring Miss Yvette Terry.

The club presented the school with their hard work in many ways. They collaborated with the fashion design class to present us with a magnificent fashion show. Many of the students participated in the arts festival & exhibition to bring home trophies and certificates. Others in school activities included the Halloween decoration contest and the Christmas door decoration contest which they held to promote schoolwide participation in exercising the creative abilities.

Close up, sponsored by Mr. Thompson, is an organization designed to give students the opportunity to see how their national government is run. This past year the group took their annual trip to Washington. The members expressed to the student body that they felt this trip was much more enlightening than the others, in that they participated in abortion rallies dealing with the pros and cons of this national concern. To the group, it was a moving and memorable experience.

The Student Council helped to make this past school year a success. They helped the teachers promote the true meaning of striving for excellence. The words of encouragement they offered geared toward making Woodland a great school brought a lot of school student involvement for their effort. Their efforts did not stop there. The group led the school in the production of Woodland's 4th annual Homecoming. The executive council also aided the administration in the making of Woodland's Birthday Tea a great success.

Future Homemakers of America were really on top of things in the absence of their sponsor. They sponsored a can food drive during Christmas and after their hard work they had a Christmas party. They planned on making little treats to take to members of a community convalescent home. The group did an excellent job on showing their school spirit in participating in activities which gave them, as well as Woodland, notoriety.

Vocational Office Training was a program designed to give students who were interested in office related occupations a chance to be trained in everyday office procedures. The students received classroom instructions from the coordinator Mrs. Tibbs, one period a day. During the afternoon they were on the job using the knowledge they had gained and obtaining even more.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes was an organization to present to the athletes and all those around them that influence their lives the challenge of receiving Christ as their Savior. The FCA, sponsored by Coach Leath, had many programs teaching them how to serve the Lord on a daily basis. One of their activities was the annual Jog-A-Thon to raise money for those in need.

Anchor Club

This year's Anchor Club lived up to every aspect of their motto: "Building respect for the rights of others and practicing thoughtfulness and helping others." They showed that they really cared for those around them through their participation in community activities. They performed the flag ceremony for the PTSA meeting in October and served as aides in the Fulton County Special Olympics. Some of their activities around the school were sponsoring the Teacher Appreciation Luncheon at Valentine's and preparing Easter Baskets for the needy.

WOODLAND

WARRIORS

The varsity football team of Woodland High is just that, "The Varsity Football Team of Woodland High" which in itself says a lot. The team is composed of about 40 players which work together on both offense and defense to manipulate the plans the other team may have to win the game. Each player of our team plays a very important role, but there are a certain few that excel even more. The Golden Helmet was awarded to Eldred Freeman, the most valuable player was Mario Black, the Best Offensive Player was Tim Murdock, the Best Defensive Player was Pop Underwood, and the Captain and Coaches' award was given to Sean Dupree. These are only a few of their accomplishments.

CHEERLEADERS

The 1985-86 Varsity Cheerleaders were an exceptional group of young ladies which consisted of five seniors and two juniors. This summer the cheerleaders attended camp at Woodward Academy. They received two superior ribbons and won first-runners-up at the Atlanta Superstar Cheerleading Camp. The Varsity Cheerleaders were in many ways a part of our school. They put on pep rallies and cheered at both football and basketball games to boost school spirit. None of these accomplishments could have been possible without the help of their sponsor, Ms. Peebles. It can just be said that they were an All-American supersquad that loved to cheer the Warriors on to victory!

The B-Team cheerleaders also helped the Varsity cheerleaders in many of their endeavors, the most noticeable ones being at the pep rallies and Homecoming. Mr. & Mrs. Woodland Pageant

This year Woodland hosted its first annual Mr. and Miss Woodland Pageant. All eligible guys and girls were given the opportunity to model their favorite sportswear, dresswear and formal wear ensembles. However, good looks and charm were not the only categories! The contestants were posed a question to determine how well they could speak on their feet and in front of an audience. Judges scored the contestants in the three fashion categories and the mystery question and the scores were tallied. And the winners were

What A Feeling!

The theme for the 1985-86 Homecoming was "Hooray for Hollywood". The first stars to dazzle our eyes were Kim Brooks and Romani Locke, the ninth grade representatives. Next making their debut were Marva Woods and Nechole Murchison, the tenth grade representatives. Representing the eleventh grade were Ginger Taylor and Jami Northern. At the top of the ladder were veteran stars Achele Price, Pam Williams and the young starlet Dawnette Lounds. These lovely debutantes represented the senior class. Through artistic talents of members of the different classes, we decorated our field. The freshman were represented by the "Wizard of Oz" followed by Yul Brynner representing the sophomores. The juniors were represented by The Supremes. And finally the seniors saluted Hollywood. Last but definitely not least the senior sponsors of 1985-86. The senior sponsors represented the senior varsity athletes. Although the Warriors were defeated on Homecoming, it was still a festive occasion for everyone involved

Cabaret, that magical word, that mystical sound, heard only by the Woodland Chorale casts its transforming spell over all. It is the one time in the year where dreams really do come true. The cobwebs of the mind are brushed away; the cogs are oiled and begin to move, the ideas spring forth

It's the scramble off the stage, the grabbing of the next costume, the heat of excitement when the show is great. It's the confidence one gets from doing his best with the talent given only to him or her

The dream-plunges one to the depths of his soul with the demand for excellence and lifts one to the pinnacle of success, acceptance, confidence, and STARDOM!!

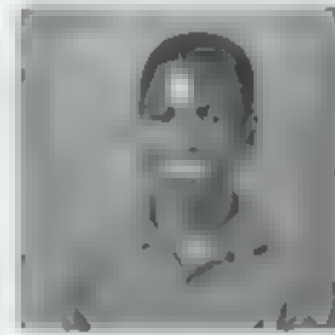

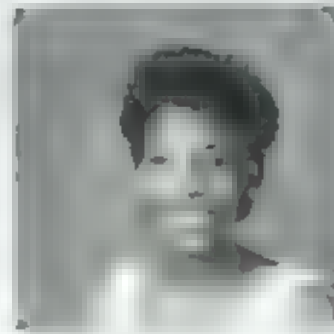

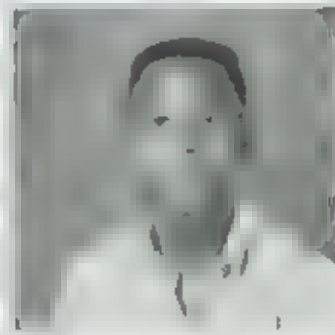

Kimberly Brooks, Lisa Groover, Lanita Bussey, Lashawn Tolbert

The Freshman Class brought a renewed feeling to Woodland. As Woodland's largest class, they evoked a wave of enthusiasm in proportion to their size. They participated wholeheartedly in school pep rallies, winning several of the spirit contests. Under effective leadership, the class flourished and demonstrated traits of future accomplishments.

The Sophomore Class exhibited a sense of great maturity and responsibility with their promotion. Their zeal however was not dampened by their new found sophistication as they participated with vigor in pep rallies winning many of the spirit contests. The Sophomore class participated in many activities including a fund raiser to establish money towards next years prom. Such efficient foresight as this shows the promise the class portrays for future years to come.

My experience as an editor was one I'll never forget. At times I was skeptical of how the yearbook would turn out, but because of the hard work and dedication of the staff
I think it will turn out super. I hope you like it.

W ell its over! I must confess that my senior year was undoubtedly the most exciting as well as educational year ever. The year book was at times a bother, however, I was able to do my job as an editor rather effectively. Hopefully the yearbook will turn out the way it was planned if not better! I wish the Trailblazer staffs in the future much luck. Being a member of the Trailblazer staff is a special opportunity that everyone should want to experience. I learned infinitely more this year on the "TBS" and from friends and teachers than I previously learned in any other year! Love Michael.

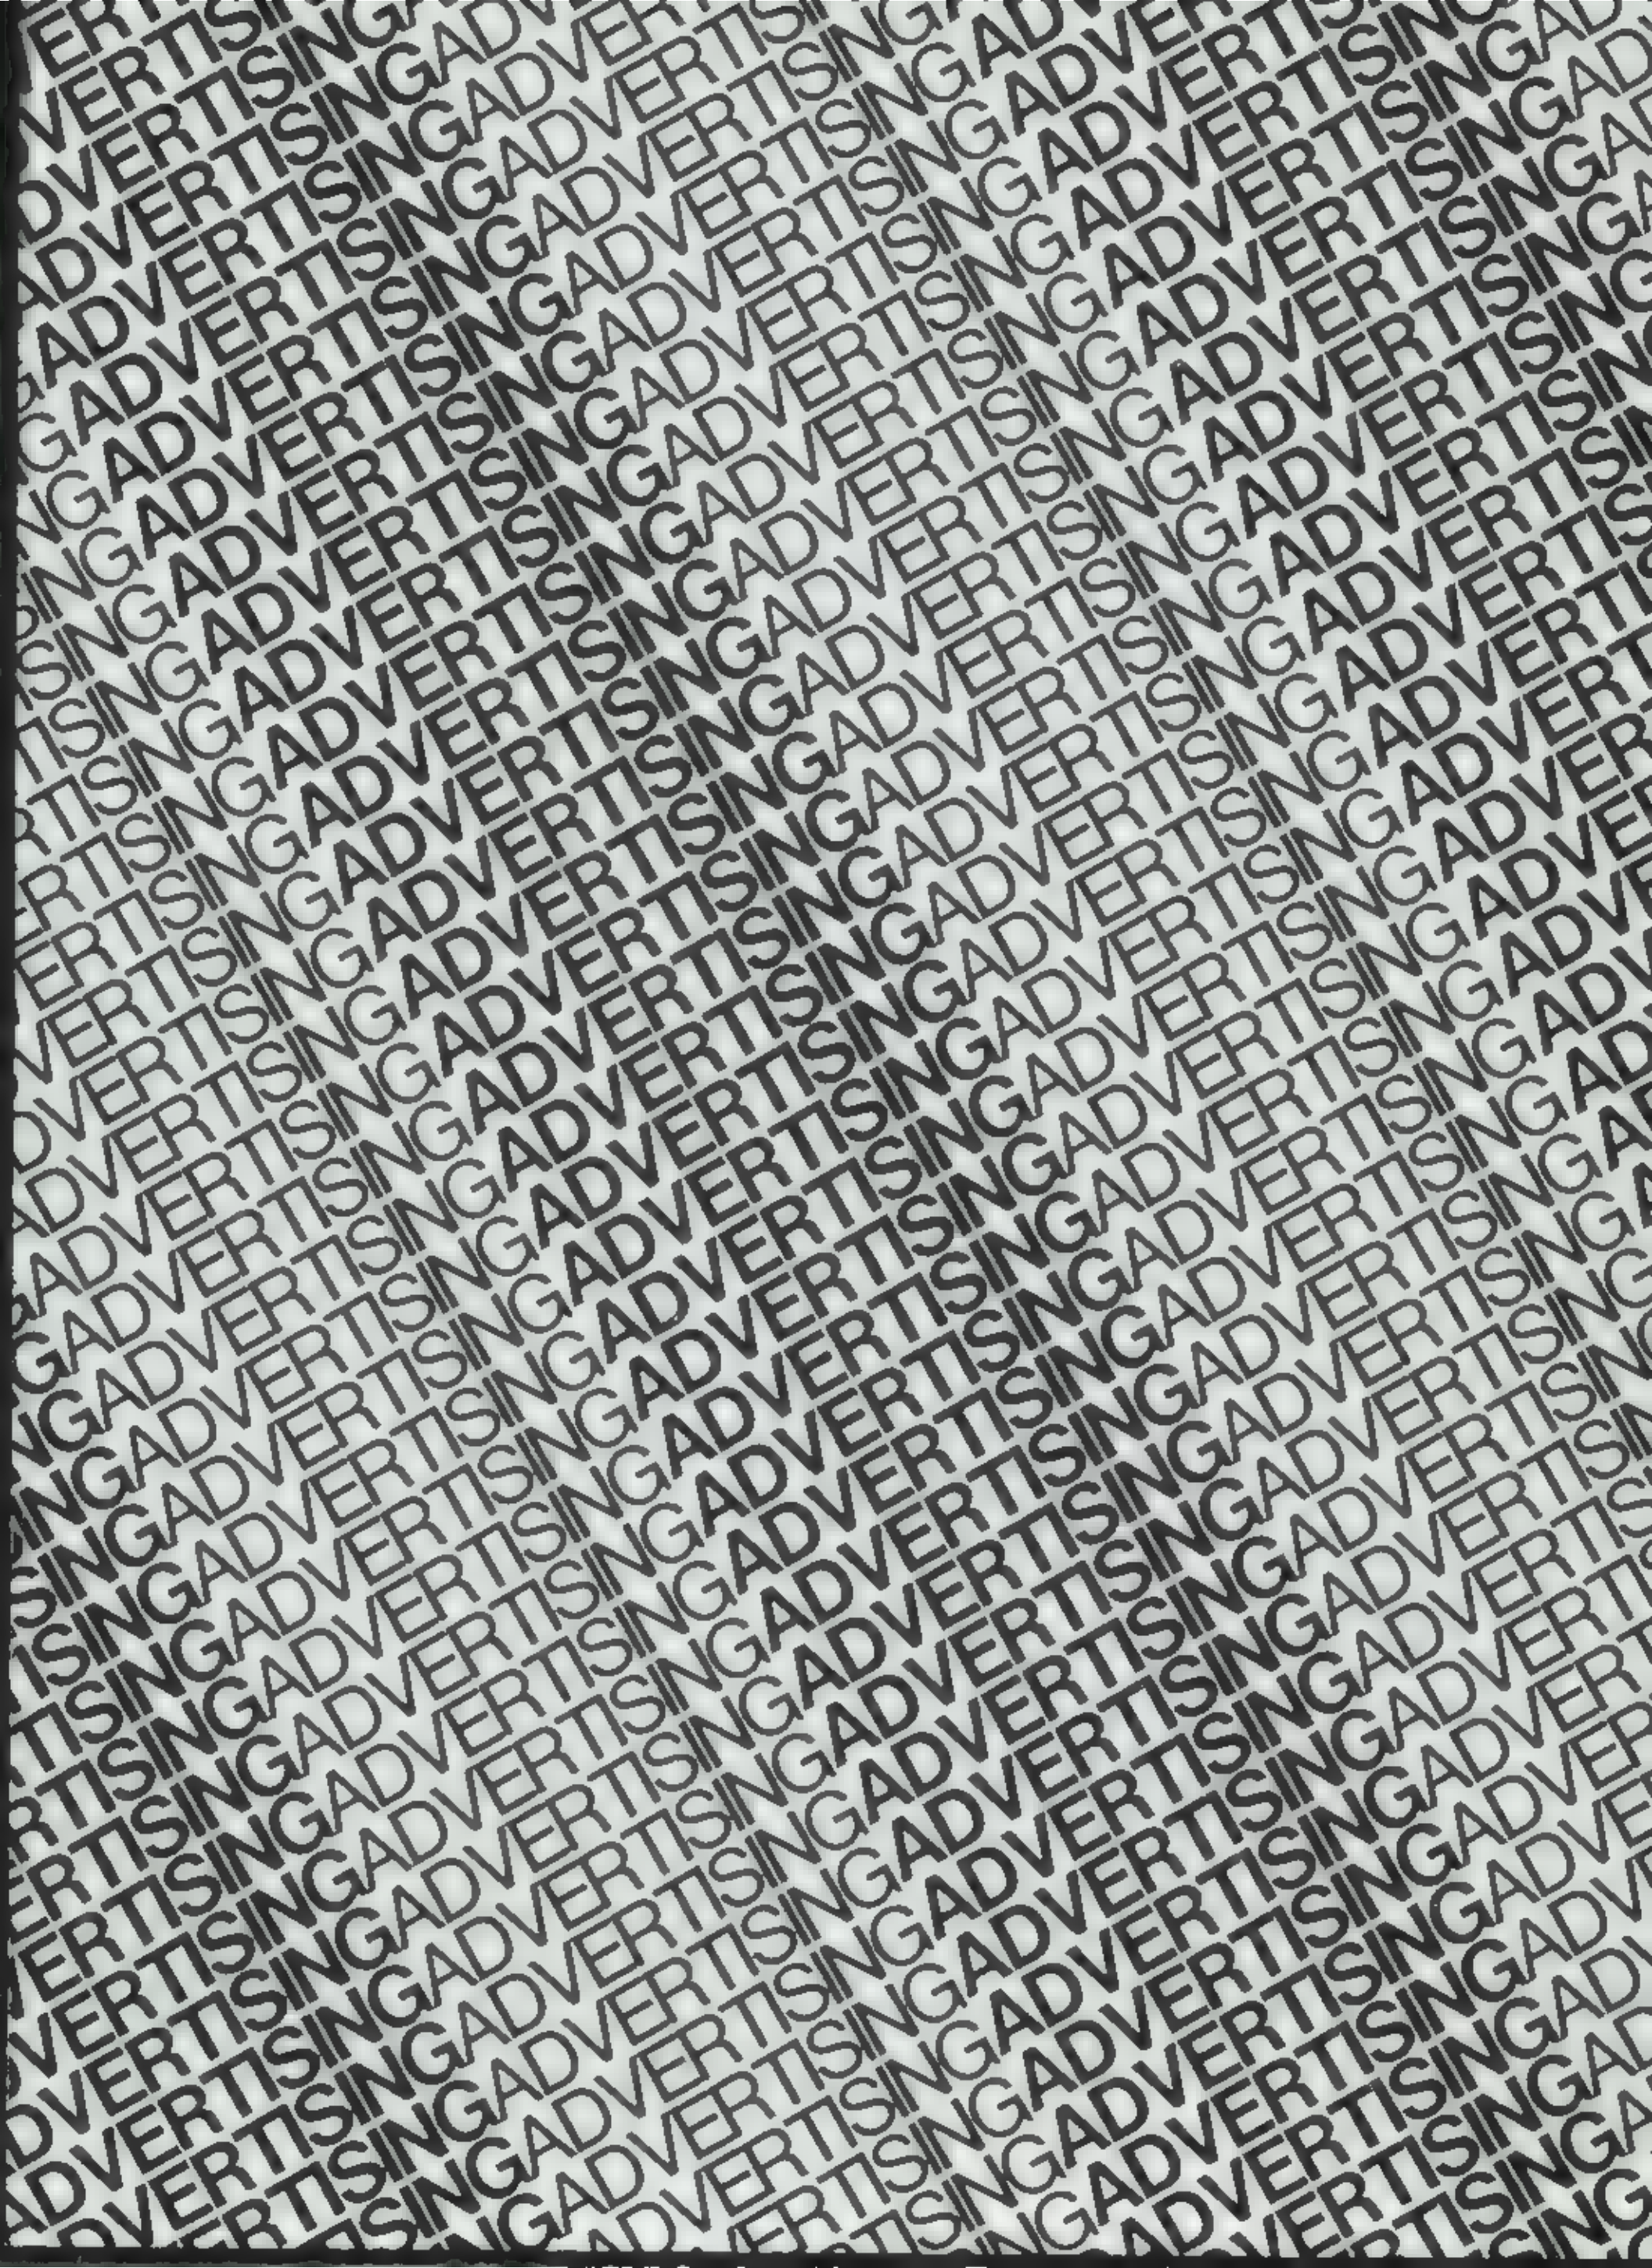

Being one of the editors of the Trailblazer has been an experience I would not trade for anything. It is true that sometimes I feel frustrated because I had a responsibility most of the staff members had previously agreed on a yearbook staff for the year previously, however, and things began to shape up my interest rightened. I saw the book began to take form before my eyes, and it was a very satisfying feeling. The yearbook is truly original because it includes the perspectives of one of the different staff members. Having such a diverse group of people in the staff compelled the book tremendously. These members brought fresh ideas and enthusiasm. These members could only work to update the old principles of what a yearbook could be working on the staff, I gained new commitments, the power of working together, and the production of a yearbook, and learned to handle large responsibilities working along with an overall cooperation and responsibility.

staff, I have aided in making a yearbook that is proud of and that I hope to edit in the future of a week and the best to edit yearbook, Sharon Hickock, and the 1986-87 Trailblazer Staff!

Sharon White

IT'S UP TO YOU
 A diploma's very special
 It's like a golden key
 That turns the lock on any door
 Marked "opportunity"

But one thing to remember
 If you want to get in It's up to you to give the nudge
 That swings it open

And it's up to you to take the leap
 Once you're inside the door
 To see if what's behind it Is what you've been looking for

Then if it is, you have to mold it
 Push it, tug it, too
 Till that opportunity becomes
 A big success for you

Use your key, but be aware
 It's just a key at best
 And remember that it's up to you
 To go and do the rest

God made a world of His dreams of majestic mountains oceans, and streams, prairies and plains and wooded land. Then paused and thought, "I need someone to stand on top of the mountains, to conquer the seas, explore the plains and climb the trees. Someone to start out small and grow sturdy and strong like a tree." And so He created boys full of spirit and fun, to explore and conquer, to romp and run, with dirty faces and bandaged skins with courageous hearts and boyish grins. and when He'd completed the task He'd begun, He surely said . . .
"That's a job well done!"

Well it's been 12 long years and we are united again for another graduation. I believe & understand you more than anyone else even yourself. No matter what goes on in our lives we always seem to come out on top. Now we've reached the point in our lives where all opportunities are open to us and the world is ours. We must keep in touch every the years so we can continue to grow together and handle the hardships as one. Don't forget to invite me the wedding and baby shower just make sure the wedding comes first and the same for me.

Love you
